Customers May Notice a Difference in Their Water

FORT WORTH – Water customers throughout Fort Worth and the communities it serves may notice a change in the taste of their water for the next two months.

Lower water usage this time of year allows the Fort Worth Water Department and Tarrant Regional Water District to take portions of pipelines and plants out of service to perform maintenance. Because of the maintenance activity, water source blends are altered and water is moved all over the city from various treatment plants.

In addition, some water supply sources are exhibiting taste and odor episodes because of algae in the lakes that are killed by low temperatures.

Residents who are sensitive to water changes may detect a difference in the taste and smell of their water. There is no water quality issue associated with these changes.

Entities which purchase drinking water from Fort Worth are Aledo, Bethesda Water Supply Corp., Burleson, Crowley, Dallas/Fort Worth International Airport, Dalworthington Gardens, Edgecliff Village, Everman, Forest Hill, Grand Prairie, Haltom City, Haslet, Hurst, Keller, Lake Worth, Northlake, North Richland Hills, Richland Hills, River Oaks, Roanoke, Saginaw, Southlake, Trophy Club Municipal Utility District, Westlake, Westover Hills, Westworth Village and White Settlement.
